Dear Eddie,

Congratulations on your extraordinary efforts in bringing our GEM Sprayers into safety and regulatory compliance for worldwide markets. In recognition of your contributions, the Product Safety committee has named you as a recipient of the 1999 Product Safety Achievement Award. This award is based on a nomination from your Case colleagues. Product safety leadership is a key element in delighting our customers, and I thank you for your role in helping us to achieve that goal.

Case employees know that we have a responsibility to provide our customers with safe products that are compatible with a healthy global environment. Safety excellence is the responsibility of all Case employees. Because of the dedication and participation of you and Case employees throughout the world, Case has been successful in incorporating safety into our production processes.

Again, congratulations on your accomplishment.

Sincerely,
